After alluding to the death of Supervisor Winlock, at the beginning of the work, the letter says: "His successor was compelled to begin the work of enumeration immediately, without time to familiarize bimself with the circumstances of Louisville, to hardly acquaint himself with a division of the work in the city, and without the cooperation, suggestion, and advice that Mr. Winlock had sought. The light which he expects to throw out from one lantern will be equal to 300,000 candles, while the largest electric light yet attempted by any one else has been of but attempted by any one el cost $15,000, irrespective of any investment for power; but after the system is once in operation the cost of running it, aside from the power, will be small. The expense of lighting Holyoke at present, public and private, is estimated at $100,000 a year, and for about that amount the seven towers which are proposed could be set up and the lights put in operation. Mr. Spaulding came to Holyoke on account of the public spirit of its principal citizens and its cheap power, and because it will be a good place.

LETTER FROM SENATOR BUILER-HE DOES NOT REGARD THE TRAGEDY AT DUBOSE'S CODE OF THE DUELLO.

GEFIELD COURTHOUSE, July 13, 1880. Editors Charleston News and Courier:
Dear Sirs.—I want to say to you that you have my hearty endorsement in the position you have taken in reference to the Cash-Shannon tragedy. It is no reflection upon the memory of the gallant gentlemen of the past who resorted to the duello to settle their personal differences to ask that the law be vindicated in this case. In former days the most punctilious decorum and chivairic courtesy distinguished the conduct of gentlemen in "affairs of bonor," and coarse ribaldry and gasconade in correspondence was as odious as the brand of cowardice; but now the "swash-buckler style" appears to be fashionable.

The issue is very sharply made between those who execute it, and I do hope that courage enough may be found to execute it.

It will be a sad day for South Carolina
